

Identification

for driver licensing

To get or renew a driver licence, you'll need to show us some acceptable identification to confirm your identity.

Why do I have to show certain types of identification?

We need to have steps in place to prevent people from getting a driver licence fraudulently. Requiring particular forms of identification improves the integrity of the licence system and protects law-abiding drivers.

Why do I have to present identification every time I renew my licence?

The identification requirements help to reduce the chances of driver licensing fraud.

Evidence of your identity

When making an application, you must present:

- your New Zealand driver licence which can be current or expired up to two years, or
- your current New Zealand passport, or
- two of the following kinds of identification (one of which must be photographic). These must be one primary document from table 1 and one supporting document from table 2.

All documents must be originals. Photocopied or scanned documents are not acceptable.

Please note that if your evidence of identity document is not issued in the name that is currently on your driver licence, (eg you have been married since your evidence of identity document was issued) you may be required to provide additional documentation to show the link between those names (eg a birth certificate and/or a marriage certificate).

Table 2: Supporting documents

*These documents must be issued within the last six months. They must show your first name (or initials) and last name, and the issuer (utility company or bank). They don't need to show any transaction details. All other documents in this table must be current.

If neither document contains a photo, you must also provide a passport-style photograph and an identity declaration signed by an identity referee.

An Identity referee declaration form (DL26) is available for your convenience at www.nzta.govt.nz/dl26.

Who can be an identity referee?

Your referee must:

- have a valid New Zealand passport or New Zealand driver licence, and
- have known you for one year or more, and
- be 16 years of age or older, and
- not be related to you or part of your extended family group, and
- not be your spouse or partner, and
- not live at the same address as you.

Your referee needs to provide their passport or driver licence number, name, date of birth and contact details, including a day time phone number.

Your referee must write your full name on the back of the photo and sign and date it. The image must be a good likeness and of an equal standard to one required for a driver licence or passport application.

Note: a business that takes passport photos will usually supply a photo with a pre-printed label on the back.

What if I am from overseas and do not have a New Zealand licence?

If you are from overseas you still need to present a combination of evidence of identity documents (one primary document from table 1 and one supporting document from table 2).

If you are applying for a New Zealand driver licence for the first time, this could be your current overseas passport and your current overseas driver licence.

Evidence of name change

If the name you want on your photo driver licence is different from the name on the driver licence register, or on either of your two forms of identity, you will need to provide one of the following documents (which must be an original) as proof of your name change.

Document type	Issuing agency/ authority
New Zealand birth certificate showing both names	DIA (Identity Services)
Marriage or civil union certificate	DIA (Identity Services)
Dissolution of marriage or civil union order	Ministry of Justice
Certificate of annulment	Ministry of Justice
Deed poll certificate, change of name certificate	DIA (Identity Service)
Statutory declaration confirming change of name which has been registered with the Registrar of Births, Deaths and Marriages	DIA (Identity Services)
