Where to apply

An agent will process your application, review your documents, take your photo* and a sample signature for your licence, check your eyesight, book any theory tests and take your payment.

*When your photo is taken you can't wear sunglasses, a hat, head coverings or anything else that might obscure your face or prevent the photo from being a good likeness. You can wear the item for religious or medical reasons if you supply a signed statement confirming this, and wearing the item doesn't prevent the photo from being a good likeness.

You may need to sit a theory test and/or a practical driving test. This will depend on the country your licence is from.

These countries are considered exempt countries:

- France
- Germany
- Greece
- Hong Kong
- Ireland
- Italy
- Japan
- Luxembourg
- Netherlands
- Norway
- Portugal
- South Africa
- South Korea

If the country your licence was issued in is not on this list, then it is a non-exempt country.

Exempt country

Exempt countries have similar driving standards to New Zealand and are exempt from some requirements to convert to a New Zealand licence.

If you're converting a car or motorcycle licence from an exempt country, you don't have to sit any theory tests.

If you've held your licence for more than 2 years, you won't have to sit any practical driving tests either.

However, if your licence doesn't have an issue date, you'll need to provide confirmation of the issue date from your licensing authority if you want to be exempt from the practical test.

If you're converting a truck licence (class 2-5), you have to sit a theory test.

If you've held your licence for more than 2 years, you won't have to sit a practical test for a truck unless your licence is from Hong Kong or South Korea.

Non-exempt country

If your licence is from a non-exempt country, you must sit a theory and a practical test.

When you've passed the theory test, you'll get a New Zealand driver licence with a supervisor condition on it. You must have a supervisor with you at all times while driving until you've passed the practical driving test.

When you've passed the practical driving test, you'll get a New Zealand licence without a supervisor condition on it.

Tests

Information to help you prepare for and pass the tests is available in Factsheet 45 (for car drivers), Factsheet 28 (for motorcyclists) and in The official New Zealand road code. These are available online at www.nzta.govt.nz/factsheets, and www.nzta.govt.nz/roadcode.

Make sure you bring the right ID to the test. For more information go to www.nzta.govt.nz/test-ID

If you normally wear glasses or contact lenses to drive, make sure you bring them with you to the test.

You may be able to sit your theory test in a language other than English. For more information go to www.nzta.govt.nz/theory-test

Practical tests are conducted in English. If you have difficulty speaking or understanding English you can bring an interpreter.

The testing officer may attach a small video camera to the front windscreen at the beginning of your practical test. The camera records the test and enables the testing officer's performance to be audited. It also assists in investigating complaints where the test result is disputed. If you don't want your test recorded, please let the testing officer know.

Changing or cancelling tests

If you need to change or cancel your theory test, please visit your overseas conversion site as soon as possible.

If you need to change or cancel your practical test, you can do this at www.nzta.govt.nz/online

There are no fees to change or cancel your test.

Eyesight

You must prove that your eyesight is up to standard. You can:

- pass an eyesight screening check at a driver licensing agent, or
- present a satisfactory eyesight certificate or medical certificate (no more than 60 days old).

The certificate must be issued by a New Zealand registered optometrist or health practitioner (see page 2). If you don't pass the eyesight check at an agent, you'll need to provide a certificate instead.

If you have sight in only one eye, or have only one eye (monocular vision) you'll need to present an eyesight certificate.

Responsibilities

Driver licences make our roads safer for everyone and prove drivers are qualified and legally entitled to be behind the wheel. You must always carry your licence with you when you drive.

Your address will be recorded on the database and you should notify Waka Kotahi if you change your address.

If your old licence is replaced by a new version, you must surrender the older version under s30 of the Land Transport Act 1998.

Warning

It's an offence to supply false or misleading information and may lead to court action, losing your licence and fines. If you don't supply all the relevant information, your application may be delayed or declined.
