Key topics

The main purpose for this month’s info day was to provide information to property owners about vibration from the New Hockey facility site.

The key topics covered in the presentations included:

- Understanding vibration (presented by Jon Styles)
- The project’s consent conditions for managing construction vibration (presented by Bridget Wild)
- Construction activities and vibration monitoring being undertaken (presented by Mike Spies)

Advertising the events

An invite was sent to 58 local businesses and residents.

Feedback main points

The main comments and questions raised from attendees were to do with monitoring data, key staff and their contact details, and personal experiences with vibration caused from the construction work.

Key social impacts and future project mitigation recommendations for project team:

Vibration was a topical issue for some property owners and commercial owners along Bush Road and near the new Hockey facility site. It was important to hold a meeting to work through any concerns and update affected parties with the latest information.
