

National War Memorial Park and Underpass

8 November 2013

A bigger crane to move loads on site

First a 70-tonne crane made its presence felt on site. Then we needed a bigger 100-tonne crane to help out.

Now several months later, an even bigger crane has arrived, painted an eye-catching red.

The 110-tonne M12000 Series Manitowoc crane began work this week lifting steel reinforcing for concrete walls. It's slightly taller than the others with a boom of 52m.

Neighbours

Your turn to name a crane

We have two cranes – named Cranosaurus and Mt Cranea by the children at Mt Cook School.

Now we're offering our other neighbours beside the Memorial Park site a chance to name the red crane.

Put your thinking caps on and send your ideas to info@memorialpark.co.nz or leave a written note at the Memorial Park Information Centre.

Title your entry Name the Red Crane. Please include your name, address and contact details. Entries close 9.00am Friday 15 November. Mt Cook School will judge the entries.

The winner will be welcomed on site to fix a magnetic name tag to the crane and will receive a miniature version of the name tag as a fridge magnet.
