

Peka Peka to Ōtaki Expressway

INFORMATION DAYS

CONSTRUCTION STARTS SOON

Main construction of the PP2Ō Expressway is scheduled to start in November and we think it's important you get an accurate picture of what's happening, when and how.

The PP2Ō Expressway team and other experts will host information days for residents at Ōtaki and Te Horo on Saturday 28 and Sunday 29 October.

The project team will run a series of presentations on aspects such as bridges and culverts, earthworks and archaeology, landscaping and urban design, health and safety, employment and training.

Come along to meet the project team and have a chat about the upcoming summer season of construction. They'll have a suite of diagrams, maps and information boards on hand to answer any questions you may have.

CONNECTING PEKA PEKA

The Transport Agency is currently investigating options for improving connections to and from the Mackays to Peka Peka Expressway in the area between Peka Peka and the Ōtaki River.

The project team is working with representatives from well-established stakeholder groups to identify options. The stakeholder groups include Kāpiti Coast District Council, iwi, community liaison boards and other community groups.

At the information days on 28 and 29 October, the team will seek feedback from local communities on the options that have been identified. Come along and have your say!

PP2Ō SHARED PATH

In June, the Transport Agency received a wide range and scope of feedback in the first stage of designing a shared path as part of the Peka Peka to Ōtaki Expressway.

The design team has used the information gathered to develop a series of options, and will share these with the community at the information days on 28 and 29 October.

Representatives from the Transport Agency will present options for the shared path and invite feedback and discussion from residents in the area, and others who plan to use the path, before a final design is confirmed.
